Hemispheric Solidarity To Be Stressed In Parade And Meetings

Another colorful fiesta is slated for Tucson on April 25 as Alianza Hispano-Americana stages its first all-day celebration, "Alianza Para Victoria."

C. E. Sedillo, president of the organization, said today that the event will inaugurate a program of better understanding between the English and Spanish-speaking peoples of the western hemisphere.

Highlight of the day's festivities will be a mile-long parade, based on the theme, "Progress of the Blending of Our Civilizations in the Southwest," Sedillo said.

No automobiles will be allowed in the march. Mules, horses and burros will be used entirely, he said, and the parade will feature costumes of all development periods to add to the colorful scene. Music of both Americas will blend the fiesta's dual civilizations.

Nogales Takes Part

Nogales, Sonora, will participate in the parade, featuring the May 29 Fiesta de las Flores to be held there.

A formal dinner party will be held that night, with speakers from both the United States and the Republic of Mexico. Two orchestras will play later in the evening at a colorful costume dance. There will be no admission charge to the dance, Sedillo said.

Young girls dressed in patriotic costumes will sell defense bonds and stamps throughout the day's events, he explained.

"At this particular time and place in the hemisphere history," Sedillo said, "we are anxious to weld our nations together against our common enemy. Hundreds of delegates from all over the southwest will come to Tucson April 25 to learn first hand the best ways to accomplish our purpose."

Discussions Scheduled

According to the Alianza president, discussion groups on health, education, war effort and other general problems will be held through the day.

Governments of both nations have been invited to take part in the celebration.

Many Mexican and Latin American film stars have been asked to appear here then, Sedillo said.

Russians Strike In Four Places

In three spearheads (arrows, 1) on southern front a Russian army of 1,500,000 men was said to be aiming at driving the Germans west of the Dnieper to new positions (indicated by dotted lines). Germans acknowledged their line had given way near Orel (arrow, 2), and on the central front (arrow 3) the Reds claimed other successes. Russians also reported a break through on the Leningrad front and increased pressure on Nazi army trapped at Staraya Russa (arrows, 4). Shaded area indicates territory recaptured by Reds.

'Handy' Vitamin Clears Up Freckles, Aids Pregnancy

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
NEW YORK, March 16. (P)—An inexpensive vitamin, heretofore used to combat gray hair, has now turned up as a remedy to tone down the glaring color of freckles and small birth marks.

It also is aiding previously sterile women to have children, and restores the complexion of unnaturally whitened patches of skin—what one might call an all-around handy vitamin.

The Journal of Southern Medicine and Surgery tells the surprising story today in its March issue. The vitamin is para amino benzoic acid, discovered about two years ago, and known as the anti-gray hair vitamin.

The report is by Benjamin F. Sieve, M. D., Boston. The unusual cases appeared among 800 persons, aged 16 to 74, most of whom took the vitamin for gray hair. Some had freckles and birth marks.

"Much to my amazement," Dr. Sieve states, "I observed decrease of pigmentation in these lesions. The dark shading of the pigment became lighter and in some cases disappeared until it blended with the normal color of the skin."

"In other lesions, such as the dark nevi cells (these are the birth mark type of discoloration—Editor's note) there was a decrease in the dark brown shade to a lighter pale brown or a yellow pink coloration."

The ghostly colored skin patches afflicted persons suffering from alopecia areata and vitiligo. In both types there was a definite return of color, after five to 20 weeks use of the vitamin.

The sterility test was made after some women who took the vitamin attributed pregnancies to its aid. A group of 22 women, sterile for five years or more, was chosen. All had received other treatments for sterility, which failed. All had been examined by gynecologists, and all their husbands likewise, with the failures in all cases attributed to the women.

In from three to seven months 12 of these women became pregnant. The other 10 did not, and Dr. Sieve states that six of these did not take the medication as prescribed.

The vitamin was tried for asthma. Some benefited, others did not. The benefits, Dr. Sieve says, might be due to a protective action of the vitamin on adrenalin, which is standard treatment for asthma.

This vitamin is not on the market. Only physicians can obtain it. It is a synthetic substance, requiring tolerance and the need for tolerance to make it. N. T. E. restricts the present manufacture of the vitamin.

Unlike most vitamins, it is cheap to manufacture. Last quoted figures were about $8 a pound. In cases reported by Dr. Sieve, the vitamin was given in doses of hundreds of milligrams daily, which is huge compared with most vitamin treatments.

NEGRO WOMAN IS HELD IN STABBING

Barney Wilson, Jr., Negro, was in the county hospital Monday with a serious knife wound under the heart and Effie Jamison, 27, Negro, 133 South Convent street, was booked for assault with a deadly weapon, police said.

Detective James Herron, who is investigating the affair, said that Wilson and three other witnesses have accused the Jamison woman of the assault. She firmly denies having any part in the stabbing, he added.

According to Herron, the assault was the result of an argument which took place at the Convent street house in the early hours Monday.

Dr. F. W. Allen, physician at the county hospital, described Wilson's condition as "much better" several hours after the wound had been inflicted.

She told investigators that she was sitting in her car in front of the American Legion hall waiting for her husband when a tall, thin-faced, dark-haired person whom she thought was a Mexican forced her to get out of the automobile. Track Removal Proposal Made

Metal Buyer Requests Right To Remove Rails; City Will Consider

Perhaps, after all, the last evidence of Tucson's once being the proud possessor of a street car system will be removed, Phil J. Martin, jr., city manager, said Monday.

He received a request from an El Paso, Tex., metal buyer for the right to remove the rails.

Recent tests, Martin said, had disclosed that the cost of digging the 3 1/2 miles of track—seven miles of rails—from the city would exceed proceeds if the metal be sold.

Several offers

However, private interests, it was added, have asked for the privilege, a number of offers having been received.

Councilmen are to give the matter consideration. It was asserted they will ask that paving be restored after the excavation process has been completed.

Need for steel in wartime industries has caused the demand for the local metal.

Electric trolleys were operated by Tucson Rapid Transit company until the advent of buses.
